LIBRARY COMMISSIONERS' REPORT.

1865.

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of Ohio :

The Commissioners of the State Library herewith respectfully submit the Twentieth Annual Report.

Nothing of importance occurs at any time during the year that would give especial interest to one Report over another. The business operations of the Library are rather monotonous, and to give a plain, full statement of its transactions is about all it will afford.

The accessions to the General Library have been nearly 200 volumes less than the year preceding. This is owing mostly to a larger fund on hand then in consequence of former sales of Ohio Reports, which have now ceased to be available as a revenue, and the Library must rely entirely upon the annual appropriation for funds. The whole amount appropriated for the General Library the last four years has been but $2900, making an average of but $725. With so small a sum as this to work with, no considerable additions can be made, and many books of value have to be unbought because of the limited means furnished.

There seems not to be a proper appreciation of the value of a first class Library, such as that sustained by the State of Ohio should be. Occupying as it does the finest room in the Capitol, it should be an especial object to have a Library that would be an honor to our great State, and surpassing at all times any West of the Mountains. To have it so, there must be a greater liberality on the part of the Legislature, in appropriations double or treble those formerly made. Possessing many valuable works, it is still but the nucleus of what it might have been had there been enlightened and liberal legislation in reference to the purchase of books, and capacity of shelving and cases to contain them.

We also respectfully present the necessity for entirely new matting to take the place of that now on the floor of the Library, put down ten years ago, and which, from its worn and filthy condition from spittle and other causes, is unfit for the room. Every other room in the Capitol has been newly carpeted, and some of them painted. None needed it more than the Library.

The number of Reports have been reduced several hundred during the year. Eighty volumes were sent to four counties last February by a Resolution, and since the adjournment one hundred and fifty-two more were supplied, through the Secretary of State, from the Library to other counties applying, as intended by the act of April 8, 1865. A few copies were sold, and the sum of seventy dollars paid into the General Revenue by the Librarian.

During the year 882 State Documents, bound and unbound, have been sent to State Libraries and Literary Institutions which exchange with the Library. On the part of some States there is a great remissness in reciprocating.

The pamphlets as provided for, have been assorted and classified, and occupy the room and places designed for them, and can now, by the aid of an index to their several subjects, be easily found when required.

The number of receipts given by individuals who have, by legislation, the privilege of taking books from the Library, have for the last three years, exceeded the three years immediately preceding by 2100 receipts.

No action having been taken by the last Legislature in reference to duplicate volumes on hand, we again refer to the subject as then presented. "The stock of duplicate volumes, which has been increasing for a number of years, now amounts to some hundreds of volumes. We would especially call the attention of the several Library committees to the subject. The Library has no use for them, and they are, by exposure and injury, becoming less valuable, and should be disposed of in some way. The present would be a favorable time to obtain a good price for them, if sold. Included in these duplicates are 140 volumes of the American State Papers, quarto size, in excellent condition, and about 200 volumes of octavo and smaller books, some of which are quite valuable English works, besides others on the shelves of the Library which are not needed there. The value of so many hundred volumes should be turned to better account than to lie exposed to the damaging effects of weather and dust. We hope the subject will receive the attention it deserves."

The following pages exhibit the operations of the Library for 1865, in the accessions of books; disbursement of its funds; titles of books purchased, and those received by donation or exchange; Ohio Reports on hand; and the annual expenditure for 1865.

All being respectfully submitted.

CHARLES ANDERSON, Governor,
WM. HENRY SMITH, Sec'y of State,
S. G. HARBAUGH, Librarian,

Commissioners of the Ohio State Library.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 24, 1865.
