EXCHANGES FOR 1866.

The Library sent during the year to State Libraries and Literary Institutions, 1,102 copies of Laws, Documents, Reports, Statistics, &c., bound and unbound.

This Report contains a list by title of every book and pamphlet received by purchase, exchange or donation, with every other transaction of the year.

The number of volumes added, though far less than they should be for such a State as Ohio, is however, more than the last several years, and contains a large number of valuable works, many of which are imported. The addition of the last year has filled up every available space of shelving and cases, and makes it indispensable that additional room for books be provided. This should be in several new cases needed at present, such as were made several years ago. There is no safety for a good and valuable book unless under lock and key.

The Librarian finds, in despite of constant vigilance, that good books are purloined by dishonest persons who visit the Library. Beside safety, in cases they are kept much cleaner and free from unnecessary handling.

The Commissioners would especially call the attention of the Legislature to the original intention of finishing the Library Hall, and hope the present session may not close without some action favoring it. The design is understood to be an iron gallery around the room somewhat after the model of the Astor Library, of New York, the plan or model for which was drawn by one of the architects of the State House. Until this is done there will be a necessity for cases to contain the books as they are added.

The Report is respectfully submitted.

J. D. COX, Governor,

WM. HENRY SMITH, Secretary of State,

S. G. HARBAUGH, Librarian,

Commissioners of the Ohio State Library.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 26, 1866.
