LIBRARY COMMISSIONERS' REPORT, 1878.

To the General Assembly of Ohio:

The Ohio State Library has over forty-six thousand volumes. Increase in the last year, two thousand four hundred and fifty, including about four hundred pamphlets, largely historical, bound separately.

The value of the Library, for its number, is high. It being in so great a degree a Library for reference and consultation, only a few novels are on its shelves—those generally of the best—and it escapes the buying of duplicates and dozens even of popular books for the hour, as is required in the large public libraries.

The main Library room is one of fine taste, of exceeding pleasantness, and all in all, the Ohio State Library may justly be regarded with great pride by our people.

It is here repeated from last year's report, that all who can aid in securing to the Library any books, or pamphlets, or manuscripts relating to the history of the State, its counties, cities, towns, societies, or institutions, are urgently requested to do so.

The services of Miss Mary C. Harbaugh, Assistant Librarian, both in general duties and in the catalogue of new books as received, intelligently and most faithfully rendered, may be considered invaluable, and receive full acknowledgement here.

It is earnestly hoped that the General Assembly may be liberal in its appropriations to the Library, that it may not fall behind the best libraries of other States.

R. M. BISHOP, Governor.

R. M. STIMSON, Librarian.
