LIBRARY COMMISSIONERS' REPORT.

1880.

To the General Assembly of Ohio :

It is with pleasure, and in compliance with law, that we lay before your honorable body the thirty-fifth annual report of the Ohio State Library.

During your last session an appropriation was made to remodel, reshelve, and otherwise improve the room in which the bound volumes of daily newspapers and numerous periodicals are kept. We are pleased to be able to report that these improvements have not only been made, but done in an artistic and substantial manner. Your inspection of the same is invited at your earliest convenience.

We would recommend a small appropriation (one not included in our estimate to the State Auditor) of two hundred dollars, for the purchase of awnings for the west windows of the room—four in number—for repairs needed upon the front doors leading into the library, and for renovating the document-room.

We desire, in a special manner, to call your attention to a matter of more than ordinary importance, to wit:

THE ST. CLAIR PAPERS.

During the session of the Legislature of 1870 a resolution was passed "To purchase for the use of the State, at a cost not to exceed two thousand dollars, to be expended at the discretion of the Governor and State Librarian, the correspondence, messages, documents and manuscripts generally of Arthur St. Clair, Governor of the Northwest Territory for fourteen years, from 1788 to 1802."

In compliance with this resolution, these manuscripts were purchased, and are now in the custody of the State Librarian. These documents are of great historical value. They serve to illustrate two periods of pre-eminent interest in the history of our country; the first embracing the Revolutionary epoch, and the second that in which the government of the Northwest Territory was organized and administered by St. Clair

—a period of fourteen years (1788 to 1802)—extending almost from the passage of the “Ordinance” to the founding of the State government.

The papers relating to the Revolutionary war are especially rich in unpublished autograph letters from General Washington, the Marquis de Lafayette, Baron Steuben, General Green and other celebrated Revolutionary leaders.

It has been a matter of surprise to all who have examined the collection to find that it contains forty-four letters from General Washington alone, relating to the Southern New York, New Jersey and Virginia Revolutionary campaigns, besides a number treating of the affairs of the Northwest Territory.

These letters, on examination and comparison with the published writings and correspondence of Washington, edited by Jerard Sparks, and collected in nine octavo volumes, are found to fill gaps in that correspondence, and to elucidate more than one dark problem in our early history.

The great bulk of the St. Clair manuscripts treats of the administration of the government of the Territory, and reflects its history with a fidelity and accuracy nowhere else to be found.

Ohio is fortunate in possessing these official documents upon her early territorial period, and should not delay to secure them against the certain destruction which awaits them unless speedily cared for.

When acquired by the State, it was at once seen that the papers had been so exposed that many valuable letters existed only in fragments, and were with difficulty compiled and arranged by Miss Mary C. Harbaugh, then, as now, assistant Librarian. It behooves the State therefor to publish the collection in book-form for a twofold purpose. First, for the preservation of valuable yet perishable documents, and second, to render the historical facts contained in them accessible.

There would doubtless be little difficulty in finding a publisher for a volume of selected letters, such as those which illustrate the revolutionary period, including the letters of Washington, but this would leave neglected and in a perishable condition the greater part of the collection, and that part which especially pertains to our territorial history.

We would recommend that a suitable appropriation be made to publish the collection, as a whole, and that they be not left a prey to be carried off piecemeal by seekers after literary curiosities.

H. V. KERR, State Librarian,
MILTON BARNES, Secretary of State,
CHAS. FOSTER, Governor.
