CINCINNATI.

PREPARED BY CATHERINE W. LORD, LIBRARIAN.

LIST OF NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS.

In transmitting these lists the librarian of the Historical and philosophical Society says: "We have large numbers of unbound papers, but I find with these, as with a large part of our unbound magazines, the labor of making a list has been more than I have been able to give. I send the list of bound newspapers in this library. * * * I send also a list of magazines (bound) and unbound newspapers in this library. This list is only partial, for I have omitted all magazines likely to be found in most libraries of any size, selecting only the earlier ones."

CATALOGUE OF PERIODICALS AND ANNUALS

PERIODICALS AND ANNUALS.

WESTERN RESERVE HISTORICAL SOCIETY,
CLEVELAND, OHIO, December 1st, 1900.

Hon. C. B. Galbreath, State Librarian, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—One of the panels in the vestibule of the Western Reserve Historical Society's building contains the following inscription: "The purpose of the Society is to discover, collect and preserve whatever relates to the history, biography and antiquities of Ohio and the West." To accomplish the purposes of the Society no effort has been spared, and territorial limits have not circumscribed it. The collection of periodicals, books, pamphlets and archæological and historical remains prove that the friends of the Society have not been remiss in its declared purpose. All of this collection is now housed in a fire proof building, owned by the Society.

The catalogue here presented is the first that has been made of the exhibit of the various periodicals owned by the Society. It will be noticed that the list contains many odd numbers of newspapers. These have been preserved owing to some special feature or article bearing upon a particular subject, which had attracted the attention of the the donor. To this should be added that there are thousands of excerpts from periodicals which have been placed in seventy scrap books, properly indexed, that ready reference can be easily obtained. In addition to this there are fifty-five scrap books of historical matter from the estate of the late Professor C. W. Butterfield, donated by his daughter, Miss Alice. All the articles from newspapers or other periodicals contained in the scrap books do not appear in this record.

How to limit the list of annuals has been something of a problem. On mature reflection it was decided to reject annual gatherings of various societies, catalogues of colleges, and similar publications, reserving the same for a future report. This is also true of annual reports of various states, of which the Society owns several thousand. Such publications of historical and other societies as appear monthly or quarterly, with date affixed, have been added to this record.

The defects, in point of definiteness, relative to the object of the various publications, and under what auspices they have been given to the public, or what principles specially advocated, are fully appreciated by the compilers. To have remedied this would have required more time than was at the disposal of the limited force employed by the Society.

Yours sincerely,

J. P. MACLEAN.

NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS.

In a letter enclosing the following lists of newspapers and periodicals the librarian of the Marietta college library says:

"I have selected from our files on the shelves in daily use only those periodicals whose files commence as early as 1850, and which would have some bearing upon American history. By going through our attic stores of old magazines I could probably add to the list, but under the circumstances that would not be possible. We are so crowded for room that much valuable matter is necessarily retired to obscure corners to make room for that which is immediately useful."
