REPORT OF THE BOARD OF LIBRARY COMMISSIONERS.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, November 15, 1906.

To His Excellency, ANDREW L. HARRIS, Governor of Ohio:

We have the honor to submit the sixty-first annual report of the Board of Library Commissioners, which is the eleventh under the library act of 1896.

We are pleased to record continued and satisfactory progress in the work of all departments of the Library. Seven thousand three hundred and seventeen volumes have been added since our last report. The Traveling Library Department has surpassed the record of any previous year. In communities reached and volumes issued by this system of book distribution, Ohio leads all states in the Union. The General Library Department shows a marked increase in volumes issued to patrons and used for reference purposes in the reading room. This increase aggregates in round numbers 10,000 volumes. For the month of October it was 1,405. The mail brings daily requests for information and books. The number of registered patrons is now increasing at the rate of 1,000 a year. Gratifying progress has been made in the more thorough classification of American History in the General Library. The literature relating to Ohio has been more carefully analyzed, and much has been done to make the material in this department more readily accessible to patrons.

The great need of the Library is additional room. The present crowded condition prevents the proper care of books and hinders efficient administration. The additional demands that will come with the departments of library organization and inspection, now partially authorized, will make the need imperative. Provision for the new building, now contemplated in the bill before the Senate, cannot be made too soon for the relief of the Library.

The matters to which we have made brief reference and others of almost equal importance, are set forth specifically in the report of the State Librarian, which we herewith transmit.

In conclusion, we wish to express our appreciation of the services of the efficient State Librarian and his assistants on the library staff who have rendered faithful and intelligent support. With the rapid extension of the free public library system throughout the United States in recent years has come the demand for skilled and efficient service. So far as we have been able to do so within the limits of appropriations, it has been the aim of the Board to meet that demand. The symmetrical growth and increased usefulness of the State Library are the results of this policy. To keep abreast of the times and meet the reasonable expectations of the public, the Board must employ those who are able satisfactorily to perform the duties of their positions and to give such aid to the library interests of the state as the law contemplates. It will continue to be the aim of the Board to reward good work with secure tenure of office and gradually to raise the standard of qualifications for those employed in the Library.

Respectfully submitted,

J. F. MCGREW,

CHARLES ORR,

JOHN MCSWEENEY,

Board of Library Commissioners.

STATE LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, November 11, 1906.

To the Board of Library Commissioners:

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to submit to you the report of the State Librarian for the year ending November 15, 1906. Within the past year additions have been made as follows:

	Volumes.
To the Traveling Library Department	4,635
To the General Library Department.....	2,682
Total	7,317
Withdrawn	257
Net increase since last report.....	7,060

The number of volumes in the State Library last year after inventory was 105,675. This, with the net increase for the year, makes a total of 112,735 volumes.

ADDITIONS TO THE LIBRARY.

Reference to the list of additions to the Library, appended to this report, will show that the satisfactory standard of previous years has been fully maintained. While comparatively few rare and out of print books have been accessioned, the list contains a goodly number of volumes on history and sociology, and some substantial and valuable sets of the writings of eminent Americans. Among these are the collected works of Clay, Hamilton, Jefferson, Fiske, Stowe and Thoreau. There have also been added LaFollett's "The Making of America," and Thatcher's "The Ideas That Have Influenced Civilization." Other works of a similar character have been added.

CATALOGUING.

Within the past year substantial progress has been made in the more thorough classification of portions of the Library. All of the literature relating to Ohio, except the state documents, has been carefully analyzed, and numerous cross-reference cards have been added to the catalogue, greatly facilitating access to material in this department. The check list of Ohio publications, published in 1897, and the revision of this work in 1902, by Mr. Bowker, constitute a fair general guide to our state publications. The early journals of the General Assembly contain in addition to the proceedings of the Senate and the House of Representatives some valuable supplemental material in the form of reports of committees and of the various state departments. It is hoped that within the coming year the more important of these papers may be indexed. The thorough analysis of these journals, however, and of the different departmental reports is not deemed advisable at this time. The work would entail an expense for which no provision has been made. Besides, this labor will probably be unnecessary, for the reason that the work has already been undertaken by one of the great libraries of the East. An effort will there be made to analyze thoroughly all the official literature of the different states of the Union. The results in dictionary form will be published, and each state, at a nominal expense, will share in the results of this generous and monumental bibliographical venture.

MONTHLY BULLETIN.

The monthly bulletin as regularly issued the past year has taken a wider range than originally contemplated. Some of the issues have been devoted to the following subjects:

Primaries and Elections; Direct Legislation — Referendum; Corrupt

Practices — Passes.

Magazine and book references to material on these subjects were published in the Bulletin for December, 1905. Illustrative acts and constitutional provisions regulating passes are included in this number.

Capital Punishment.

A very useful bibliography on this subject is contained in the Bulletin for January, 1906. It gives the summary of the experience of the states that have abolished the death penalty; statistics of crime prior to and following abolition; a table of lynchings and executions in the different states from 1890 to 1905, and numerous references to book and magazine article for and against capital punishment.

Seals and Flag.

The July number contained a description of the seals of the Northwest Territory and Ohio, with brief account of their origin, illustrated with six cuts; also an illustration of the state flag, with brief sketch of its origin and symbolism.

State Flower and Ohio Buckeye.

The August number explained the origin of the state flower, the scarlet carnation, and included in full the interesting speech delivered by Hon. Elijah W. Hill on the occasion of the adoption of his resolution designating our state flower. Following this was a description of the Ohio Buckeye. Both subjects are appropriately illustrated.

Ohio Jewels — McKinley Memorial.

The September issue contained a description of the statuary on the State House grounds. The origin of the famous group, known as Ohio's Jewels" is fully set forth. The speech of General R. Brinkerhoff, who suggested the idea embodied in granite and bronze, is also given as he delivered it on the occasion of the unveiling at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, in 1893.

The favor with which these special issues have been received is ample warrant for devoting future numbers of the Bulletin to timely topics.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE.

House Bill No. 6, by Mr. Stockwell, providing for a legislative reference department, was introduced early at the last session of the General Assembly. It is published in full in the appendix to this report. While it specifically authorizes much that is already done by the State Library, it contemplates new activities in a separate department and an appropriation adequate to the additional labor necessary. At the close of the season the bill was in the Library Committee of the Senate, having passed the House by a practically unanimous vote. It is hoped that it may become a law at the next session, as the work that it contemplates is now successfully and satisfactorily done in a number of the more progressive states. Such a department would render valuable service to the General Assembly and those interested in its work.

STATE ARCHIVES.

Nothing has been done within the year toward the establishment of a department of archives. The recommendation of last year is renewed.

NEW LIBRARY BUILDING.

The obvious need of additional room, which has been the burden of every report of this department for a number of years, has claimed the attention of the General Assembly and has led to an initial movement for the relief of the crowded condition of the Library that is truly encouraging. Senate bill No. 195, by Mr. Crist, was introduced near the close of the last session, reported favorably from the library committee, and referred to the finance committee. It provides for the erection of a building for the State Library and the State Archaeological and Historical Society. It will be found in the appendix to this report. The crowded condition of the Library has long been a source of hindrance to its work. Comment on the proposed measure of relief has all been favorable. The people of the state who have ever favored a wise expenditure of the public money for educational purposes, will certainly sanction the appropriation contemplated in the bill, which is proportionately smaller than Andrew Carnegie's free gifts for similar purposes to a number of the cities of Ohio. Other progressive states have fine separate buildings for the accommodation for their libraries. In no other state in the Union is there any attempt to carry on a work as extensive as that done by the Ohio State Library with such meager provision for room. With a library organizing department already authorized and a bill for a legislative reference department "half a law," the demand for additional quarters becomes imperative.

LIBRARY LAWS ENACTED IN 1906.

Among the laws enacted at the last session of the General Assembly was an act empowering the Board of Library Commissioners to employ a library organizer, and providing a county library system for the state. An appropriation only is necessary to make effective the provision relative to the library organizer. The section authorizing the establishment of county libraries makes it easily possible for any county in the state to provide, at small expense, library privileges for all its citizens. When a library already exists, preferably at the county seat, those interested in opening it to the free use of all the people of the county should present their plea to the county commissioners, set forth the advantages of the system and urge that a contract be entered into with the library trustees to open the library to the people of the county. The sympathy and support of the press, the schools and public spirited citizens of every class should be enlisted in the movement—a movement worthy of the enthusiastic advocacy of every one who has faith in the beneficent educational agency of the free public library. The system is ideal. With the central library at the county seat, branch libraries in the outlying villages and stations for the delivery of books at convenient points of access in the rural districts, the people of the entire county can have the uplifting influence that springs from the companionship with books. This ideal system is practical as well. It has been tested in the county of Van Wert, Ohio, since the first day of the year 1901, and it is now one of the most popular institutions of that county. The new law brings the opportunity for such a work to every county in the state.

TRAVELING LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

The Traveling Library Department continues to hold its place as a popular book-lending agency. In no previous year have so many volumes been distributed or more satisfactory service rendered. In volumes issued and communities reached through its traveling library system, Ohio still leads all the states. In the year that has closed 40,007 volumes have been issued to 796 different communities. The nearest approach to this record on the part of any other state is 34,528 volumes issued to 660 communities. The flexible system of book selection for these traveling libraries, which originated in the Ohio State Library, is now followed by practically all the states that operate a traveling library department. The following table indicates the work done by this department since its organization in 1896:

Libraries have been issued from the Traveling Library Department as follows:

Year Ending Nov. 15.	1896	1897	1898	1899	1900	1901	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906*

*Libraries issued within the year ending Nov. 15, 1906, were sent to 796 communities.

INVENTORY.

Within the past year a complete inventory was made of the books in both departments of the Library. This shows that there were out and unaccounted for in the General Library Department 112 volumes, and in the Traveling Library Department 356 volumes. These figures cover a period of three years in the former and ten years in the latter. Many of these volumes will certainly be recovered; but if none of them are returned the loss will be about 14 in every 10,000 for three years in the General Library Department, and 89 in every 10,000 for ten years in the Traveling Library Department. The loss on the number of volumes issued from the Traveling Library Department would be about 16 in every 10,000.

LIBRARY CONDITIONS.

The condition of library interest throughout the state naturally becomes, with each passing year, more and more a matter of concern to the State Library. Free libraries are looking to it for advice and assistance. Ohio has felt the stimulus of the library movement that in these later years has found its way to all parts of the United States. Few other states have enjoyed in larger measure the gifts of Andrew Carnegie for library purposes. The free public library is gradually taking its place as one of the permanent and necessary agencies of our educational system. With its development comes the demand for experienced, trained and efficient service. Interest in the work and demonstrated ability to do it, are the prime qualifications. These alone should insure tenure of office. In the past the public library was used as a training school, often with no very definite standard for those entering upon apprenticeship. In larger libraries conditions have been improved by more rigid entrance requirements. But the apprentice plan, under the most favorable conditions, has its limitations, and cannot be relied upon for the building up of the most efficient library staff. Besides, it is expensive. While the apprentice is learning some member of the staff must be teaching. This interferes with the progress of library work. Library schools are now successfully conducted and are ready to meet the demand for trained librarians and assistants. The time is approaching when the library profession, like the teachers' profession, will be safeguarded by established standards and legal certificates.

COST OF MAINTAINING A FEW IMPORTANT LIBRARIES OF THE U. S.

In a report submitted for the current year, the state librarian of California makes the following statement relative to appropriations for some of the leading libraries of this country:

ANNUAL INCOME, IN ROUND NUMBERS, OF A FEW OF THE MOST IMPORTANT LIBRARIES IN THE UNITED STATES.

Library.	Population 1900.	No. of Employees.	Total.
Boston Public	560,892	275	$321,080
Brooklyn Public	1,166,582	244	322,181
Buffalo Public	352,387	82	87,628
Chicago Public	1,698,575	175	220,000
Cincinnati Public	325,902	100	130,000
Minneapolis Public	202,718	27	68,477
Cleveland Public	381,768	245	266,586
New York State	7,268,021	*	136,720
Philadelphia Public	1,293,697	168	161,896
Pittsburg Carnegie Library	321,616	106	200,000
St. Louis Public Library	575,238	60	180,000
Wisconsin State Historical Society Library, Law Library and Free Library Commission.....	2,069,042	38	65,000
California State Library	1,485,053	19	42,600

* In 1900 the number of employees in the New York State Library was 107.

Accepting this statement as the latest accurate information on this subject, we have only to add that Ohio, with a population, in 1900, of 4,157,543, employs 16 persons in the State Library and expends on all of its departments $24,740.

With the expenditures for the states of New York, Wisconsin and California is included in each case the appropriation for the law library. This in Wisconsin is $8,000. It is probably somewhat less in California, and slightly more in New York. But deducting $8,000 from each, the appropriations still far exceed those made for Ohio.
