FORTY-SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE OHIO STATE LIBRARY FOR THE YEAR 1891.

To the General Assembly of Ohio:

In submitting the Forty-Sixth Annual Report of the Ohio State Library, we take pleasure in calling attention to its continued prosperity and slow but sure advancement.

In sending out State publications, expecting to receive "exchanges" in return, not a single State or Territory was omitted. Transportation by express was necessarily very expensive, as large packages had to be sent long distances—for instance, to California, Oregon, Washington, Alaska and Canada, and some books were sent to foreign countries by mail, necessitating a heavy out-lay for postage stamps.

As a result of this unusual and liberal distribution of State publications, the Librarian has been enabled to place on the shelves of the library an extraordinary number of books received in exchange for those sent out.

In addition to the ordinary books sent out by way of exchange, about 1,200 copies of Howe's Historical Collections of Ohio were forwarded by express and mail.

The provision made by the Sixty-ninth General Assembly for lighting the State House by electricity, has been a most necessary and indispensable improvement to the Library. At night-time, the books in the alcoves can now be examined with pleasure and satisfaction.

While the books purchased during the year covered by this report, are fewer in number than those purchased the preceding year, they are of a much higher order, and, generally, more expensive, some of them costing as much as $25 per volume.

In addition to certain reforms proposed by resolutions adopted by the National Association of State Librarians, at its recent meeting in the city of St. Louis, printed in another part of this report, you will be asked to provide liberally for some most desirable changes in constructing more shelf-room, to accommodate the rapidly increasing additions by exchanges, donations and purchase.

THE ST. CLAIR PAPERS, ETC.

It is a well known fact that duplicates of many exceedingly valuable publications are controlled by the large libraries and many of the governments of the world, which are not obtainable by purchase, but may easily be secured by the system of exchange that is now adopted by nearly all the State libraries in this country, where the States have issued rare and desirable books, like the "St. Clair Papers," the original manuscripts of which were purchased some years ago by the state of Ohio, and an authorized number of copies published for the State by Robert Clarke & Co., of Cincinnati; and more recently, "Howe's Historical Collections of Ohio," in 3 volumes.

The 1,200 copies of the latter, purchased by the Library Commissioners, are now about exhausted; and there is at present no further opportunity afforded of securing special valuable books from different countries and libraries, by exchange. It is suggested that some additional copies be arranged for, for the purpose; also, of the "St. Clair Papers." The limited number of copies published for the State were soon exhausted. There is still a demand for them as the following letters show:

WICK, SCOTLAND, August 13, 1891.

SIR: General Arthur St. Clair, or Sinclair, was a native of this county of Caithness in Scotland. The Clan Sinclair had their habitation in Caithness, and I have been for many years collecting materials for a history of the Clan, and an American writer suggested that if I would apply to you, you might in the circumstances, send me a copy of the "St. Clair Papers," which were published by the State of Ohio. I now make the application in the hope that you may see your way to comply with my request.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

GEORGE M. SUTHERLAND,

Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland.

The Secretary of State, for the State of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio, U. S.

[I am ex-Mayor of Wick. I have met many Americans in the far north here for years past.]

CANOBIE LAKE, N. H., October 15, 1891.

HON. JOHN C. TUTHILL, State Librarian of Ohio:

MY DEAR SIR: I acknowledge with pleasure your very kind letter of October 12, 1891. Am glad to know where the St. Clair original papers are, and possibly I may be there and consult them. What I am most interested in, is the genealogical part.

It was very kind in you to offer to loan me the printed "St. Clair Papers," and I may wish to avail myself of it,—will know in a few days.

This State makes arrangements by which our public documents and printed books can be exchanged for other works. Has any such plan been arranged by your State? If so, it would be very agreeable to me to exchange some of my works for the "St. Clair Papers," as I would like to own them. Hoping to hear from you and thanking you for your kindness,

I am very truly

LEONARD A. MORRISON.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES.

The increase in the Public Libraries of the United States, based upon the ratio of increase for the ten years ending in December, 1885, would justify the estimate to be, at the present time, about 7,000 in the States and Territories, containing about 27,000,000 volumes, with the following heading the list of States:

Massachusetts.....	4,000,000 volumes.
New York	3,500,000 "
Pennsylvania	2,300,000 "
Ohio	1,500,000 "

PUBLIC LIBRARIES OF OHIO.

In order to secure as near as possible a complete list of the Public Libraries of Ohio, the librarian sent out through the State, during the summer, the following circular:

OFFICE OF LIBRARIAN,
OHIO STATE LIBRARY, STATE HOUSE,
COLUMBUS, O., July 6, 1891.

The State Librarian is making an effort to secure a complete list of every public library in Ohio; how supported; the number of books, pamphlets, etc., annually circulated; officers and employes, with salaries and wages paid; number of volumes now on hand; number of volumes annually purchased, donated, etc. Please reply at your earliest convenience.

Very respectfully,

JOHN C. TUTHILL, Librarian.

Notwithstanding the fact that answers were received from nearly every county in Ohio, the list is evidently yet quite incomplete, many public school libraries not having been reported.

Below we make an exhibit of about 300 libraries, alphabetically arranged, with place, name, when founded, free or subscription, class, etc.:

THE NEWSPAPERS OF THE STATE.

While the State Library contains bound volumes of many of the great leading daily papers of the country, which are consulted every day by citizens and newspaper men, there is not a bound volume of a single county weekly paper to be found in the library. It is suggested that two leading papers of opposite politics from each county in the State be hereafter regularly supplied for the library, and bound volumes of the same kept therein for reference, thus furnishing complete data for future histories of the State.

Several years ago, at the instance of the State Librarian, the Legislature of Pennsylvania inaugurated the plan of preserving the country press of that State, as suggested above, with most satisfactory results.

OHIO PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

It is further recommended, that the Supervisor of Public Printing be directed to furnish the State Library, annually, with several hundred copies of each of the public documents, printed by State authority, for the various State, territorial and foreign exchanges, and for distribution to every college and public library in Ohio.

In this connection it is in order to call your attention to the unsatisfactory manner in which the indexing and lettering of State papers and public documents are done. If the State Library is to be the depository of the State's publications, every one of them should be found in its alcoves properly and accurately indexed, lettered, and with an intelligible title.

A COPYRIGHT DEPARTMENT.

It is hoped that the attention of Congress may be called to the propriety of establishing in each State Library a copyright department, requiring authors who shall obtain copyright of their works to deposit a copy of each book in the State Library wherein the copyright was entered.

STATE LIBRARIES.

In the summer of 1889, the State Librarians, or their representatives from twenty-seven States, met in the city of St. Louis and established the Association of State Librarians. Among the State Librarians of the Union there was evidently a conviction that a necessity existed for the organization of an institution of this character. Hence its origin. The honor of its institution is due to the Legislature of California, through its State Library Commission.

At this assembly of the librarians, the following are some of the resolutions adopted and suggestions offered for the advancement of the State Libraries of the United States, which are herewith reprinted as found in our report of last year, and to which we call the attention of the 70th General Assembly :

WHEREAS, The State of California has, by resolution of her legislature, instructed her librarian to call a conference of the librarians of the several States and territories for the purpose of securing the adoption of an approximately uniform system of laws, rules and regulations for the government and control of such libraries :

NOW, THEREFORE, We, the librarians of the several States and territories, in such conference assembled, do resolve :

1. That each State should provide for the maintenance of a State library by creating a fund that should be continuous, and not dependent upon annual or biennial appropriations.

2. That the salary of each State librarian should be made proportionate to the salaries paid other State officers in the same State, and that tenure of office should be made dependent on efficiency solely, and not on changes of administration, political or otherwise.

If State libraries are to reach their maximum of usefulness, the librarian's position must be recognized as of dignity and importance; appointments should be made with a view to fitness; tenure of office must depend on efficiency; and salaries should be such as to secure the best ability.

3. That each State should provide by law for the speedy transmission, under the direction of the State librarian, to all State libraries and to foreign governments, of all public documents, reports, laws, transactions, etc., published by authority, and that these be addressed directly to the libraries.

A great desideratum in all State libraries is a complete set of public documents, reports, laws, transactions, etc., published by authority of the Federal Government and of the several States. The present glaring deficiency in this respect is due to want of proper laws in each State providing for a uniform system of exchange. In most cases where there is any law on the subject, provision is made for transmitting such matter to the Governor, Secretary of State, or some State official other than the librarian, and it is only through the courtesy of such official that these publications, perhaps, find their way into the State library, which thus often loses most valuable publications essential to the completeness and utility of every public library. They are seldom found in book-stores, and their distribution should be sufficiently controlled by the State librarians to secure their being properly addressed and promptly forwarded to every State library in the Union. Provision should also be made for their regular distribution to a select list of college and public libraries.

The several libraries should receive not alone the regular sets of legislative documents issued as such, but also copies in their individual form of all reports of boards, commissioners or State institutions, and of all special documents prepared by State authority, so that sets of each may be placed in the separate departments of the library ; e. g., agriculture, insurance, taxation, education, insanity, etc.

4. That each State should provide by law :

- (a) That all books published under its authority be properly indexed by a uniform topical alphabet, preserving the same heads of reference from year to year.

- (e) That the name of the State, with year and number of the legislature, where practicable, be lettered on the back of every volume.

5. That each State provide for the proper cataloguing and indexing, under the direction of the State librarian, of all publications that have been, or may be, issued by authority of the State.

The prevailing mode of lettering, title-paging, and indexing public documents, is exceedingly perfunctory, inaccurate and misleading. To such an extent is this criticism true that the index of a public document often affords no reliable guide to its contents, while outside lettering and title page itself often fail to indicate with any accuracy or correctness the character of the work.

Hon. A. R. Spofford, librarian of Congress, says of this matter :

"Believing fully in the efficiency of united effort to bring about any reform, I hope that this plan may be so digested as to details, that a uniform system may sooner or later replace the heterogenous and vexatious methods of publication which make public documents the terror of librarians and the despair of the reading public. For examples see the indexes to almost any series of State documents, with every leading topic sought in vain in the alphabet, but hidden away (possibly) under 'Report' or 'State,' or some other equally unmeaning and uncertain term—the same document, moreover, being rarely indexed under the same head in successive years. . . . Nearly half the States persist in the stupid practice of anonymous titles, subjecting all other libraries than their own to great cost in lettering the books. There is no hope of reforming this except by positive statute—State printers and binders being constantly changed."

6. That each State provide for the preparation and publication of a list of the sessions of its legislature, from the first session to date, stating the time of the convening and adjourning of each session.

ON NATIONAL LEGISLATION.

WHEREAS, The National Government has thus far not given to the State and territorial libraries the aid and assistance which it is desirable should be given ; therefore be it

Resolved, That Congress should provide :

1. For free transportation by mail between State libraries.
2. By international arrangement, for free transportation of books and other printed matter between State libraries and departments of foreign governments.
3. For a lower rate of postage on books.
4. That the privilege now enjoyed by the library of Congress, and by societies, colleges and schools, in the exemption of books from import duties should be extended to State libraries.

Books addressed to the library of Congress are carried free through the mails because of the high public utility of this institution. For the same reason the official libraries of the several States should be exempted from postal charges on matter transmitted between them, since securing full sets of the documents of each State in the libraries of other States is a part of National and inter-state polity rather than a mere local exigence.

Great difficulty is now experienced and great expense incurred in trying to make exchanges between State libraries and foreign governments. Whatever Congress and the Department of State can do to facilitate exchanges and lessen expense, would benefit individual States and the country.

Reducing postage on books would facilitate diffusion of good literature, and would aid popular education through the libraries by removing what the librarian of Congress recently characterized as "the present unwise and unjust discrimination against good books, which permits all the cheap libraries of novels to go by mail at one cent a pound, while all other books must pay eight cents a pound, thus putting a government premium upon trash, and taxing the diffusion of knowledge eight times as much as the diffusion of fiction."

Through an apparent oversight, State (and public) libraries are not mentioned in the statutes as entitled to import books free of duty. The rulings of the Treasury Department allow libraries exemption from duties, but the law should be made so explicit as not to leave libraries dependent on the rulings of the treasury, or the decisions of collectors of customs.

Resolved, That the President of the United States be respectfully requested to bring these matters to the attention of Congress.

GENERAL RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, State libraries are important factors in the educational systems of the several States and territories; be it

Resolved, That the several State superintendents of public instruction and the National Bureau of Education be requested to unite with us in bringing about the above named reforms.

WHEREAS, The American Library Association has by the organized efforts of its members accomplished so much for the good of libraries, and will appreciate so fully the objects we seek to obtain.
